Lord Avalokiteshvara, protector of the world, born from tears, lord of riches whose body is resplendent with jewels,
Beautiful as a white snow-covered mountain, pacifying without exception the poverty and sufferings of all sentient beings,
With one face, two arms and three eyes, looking after all beings in the ten directions as a mother looks after her only child,
Able to satisfy our wishes like a wish-fulfilling tree, to you I respectfully bow down and go for refuge.

Your right hand holds a trident symbolizing cutting the three poisons and so forth, the root of suffering in the lower realms, Your left hand holds a club symbolizing that as lord of all the wealth deities you can dispel hunger, thirst, illness and all sufferings,

Your light yellow hair streams upwards and your head is adorned with a crown of beautiful glowing precious gems, Great Lord of Riches, riding on a dragon, please release me and all sentient beings from poverty and help us reach ultimate peace.

White as a snow mountain, with one face, two arms and a resplendent body, riding on a thunder dragon,
 Lord Avalokiteshvara, manifesting compassionately, bringing a rainfall of blessings to fulfill the wishes of all sentient beings,
 Personal deity, with respect I pay homage to you from now until I achieve supreme enlightenment,
 Please bless me to achieve great wealth and remain completely free from pursuing wrong livelihood.

Glittering white like a crystal Mount Meru,
Attaining insatiable bliss from seeing things exactly as they are,
Extinguishing the poverty and sufferings of migratory beings,
Arya Dzambhala, to you I make praises and prostrate.

The practice of White Dzambala was taught by Chenresig to Atisha in order to relieve the suffering of all sentient beings, especially the suffering of poverty. This particular publication was requested by Kushok Lobsang Dhamchöe in July 2012 in order to benefit Gaden Samten Ling's Alberta Centre for Peace and Meditation and all who attend classes there. By reciting this text daily, we accumulate the merit to ensure that both our new centre and ourselves as practitioners will always be free from poverty and have the material support to sustain our dharma practice. Phonetic and translation by Jodi Gulka.
